Rush is committed to respecting the human rights and dignity of everyone. Rush complies with all applicable laws prohibiting forced labor and child labor. Rush will not tolerate abuse of human rights in our operations or by our suppliers.

FORCED LABOR AND CHILD LABOR RISK

To the best of its knowledge, Rush determined that tier one suppliers located outside of North America posed a potential risk of forced labor and child labor. These few suppliers are located in China, Taiwan, and Turkey.

These suppliers are audited to ensure compliance with Company onboarding procedures, anti-corruption, accurate recordkeeping, child labor, forced labor, workplace safety, and quality control practices.

REMEDATION MEASURES

To the best of its knowledge, Rush has not identified any forced or child labor in its activities and supply chains.

REMEDATION OF LOST INCOME

Rush has not identified any loss of income to vulnerable families resulting from measures taken to eliminate the use of forced or child labor in its activities and supply chains.

TRAINING

During the financial reporting year, Rush did not train employees on risks related to forced or child labor.

However, Rush has previously trained employees whose job functions may expose them to forced or child labor, including senior management. These roughly 75 employees were trained via a mandatory 5-minute online training course. The course included forced and child labor, as well as acknowledging Rush's Human Rights Policy. The course was developed internally, using an external organization's video.

ASSESSING EFFECTIVENESS

- Complaints received via its third party, independent reporting service and internal reports for mentions of forced or child labor violations; and
- Supplier audits to ensure compliance with anti-forced and child labor practices.
